

Belleville Patent Lawyer

Belleville Patent Lawyer - Effective asset management is directly associated to having a successful company. Usually, businesses are not as diligent at managing their intangible assets as they are at acquiring, protecting, and managing hard assets. One of these assets is intellectual property rights, which has the potential to be amongst the most essential advantages a company could have in this technology based society.

There are various things that could be an intellectual property asset, including your business name, brands used on your products or offering your services, copyright in advertising materials, patents or design protection, equipment, processes, and software. If not property protected, several rights about intellectual property are often lost and abused.

Our office works together with our clients to be able to provide them with the knowledge necessary for them to manage, identify and perfect their intellectual property assets. What's more, our lawyers are also able to help with the development and implementation of plans so as to enforce these rights.

Some members of our office have industry specific expertise such as cosmetics, information technology, sports and entertainment, advertising, franchising, insurance, retail and financial businesses so as to enable us the ability to offer a full range of services.
