

Criminal Law Firms Belleville

Criminal Law Firms Belleville - It is clearly imperative that each and every one of our clients maintain their intellectual property and their rights behind it. Our goal is to quickly and efficiently handle the misuse and misappropriation of the intellectual property that belongs to our clients. We offer guidance in situations dealing with the leak of trade secrets, confidential information, registered designs, copyright, patents, and trademarks. Additionally, we also deal with the personality rights, anti-piracy issues, defamation and commercial disputes utilizing litigation.

In issues about patents, our lawyers are especially well-versed in the telecommunication, mechanical and pharmaceutical sectors. Any copyright violations resulting from the web, like for instance disputes concerning music, software, television and artwork rights, are handled quickly to be able to avoid more exploitation. Trademark and competition matters are generally handled utilizing litigation.

Our firm's knowledge regarding intellectual property fused with the skills of our well-seasoned litigation lawyers makes for a formidable combination. Our clients can depend on us to represent them at all levels of the Canadian courts in addition to global tribunals.

With our many educated litigators; we have as well many trademark and patent agents, who work along with property litigators. We likewise have some skill within technology transactions. This ensures we have an additional set of skills that is advantageous should a case get settled prior to going to trial. The support which we offer our clients is creative, time-efficient, and above all, effective.

Litigation is usually not the only means to achieve our clients' objectives. If there is an optional method that is more cost effective and efficient then we choose that path. The main objective is to reach our clients' goals as painlessly and quickly as possible.
